

Online Summer School

Innovative Approaches to Inclusive Education

Global vision and local solutions

21 June – 2 July 2021 (2 weeks)

PH Zurich is proud to offer you its first top-quality online summer school with the focus on “Innovative Approaches to Inclusive Education”.

Course Outline:

Inclusive education is a worldwide vision pursued by the international community through different mechanisms (e.g. Sustainable Development Goals, International Conventions) and by different partners (e.g. Global Partnership for Education, Gates Foundation). Evidence shows that inclusive education systems outperform segregated systems and therefore most countries strive towards reducing inequality and discrimination. While the vision is global, the solutions are always local and depend on the educational system, the overall educational policies on inclusion and the cultural and ethnic situation. This summer school gives you opportunities to explore both, international as well as local perspectives by providing relevant knowledge and by creating interactive digital spaces to share experiences and exchange ideas. Participants will not only have access to academic knowledge and expertise offered by the PH Zurich and other stakeholders in the international context but also to partners in international organisations such as UNICEF and UNESCO as well as partners “working on the ground” (e.g. pilot schools, local NGOs). In addition, the participants will explore and discuss in-depth burning issues by creating online “communities of practice” to learn with and from others. Examples of working with children of different ages in the area of personal development and life skills education will be presented and discussed (focus on vulnerable groups like Roma children, street children, refugees). Learning will be guided and supported by specialists working in different countries (such as Greece, Lebanon, Ghana, Kosovo, Switzerland and other regions of your interest) ready to share their experiences and insights.
