Join our European team of journalism!

euradio is an associative independent radio for the people, broadcasting on FM in the region of Nantes since 2007, on DAB+ in Lille, Lyon and Strasbourg since 2018; La Roche-sur-Yon, Le Havre, Nantes, Rouen, Saint-Nazaire since 2019; Marseille, Paris, Bordeaux, Toulouse, Nice since 2020 and soon in Tours, Orléans, Rennes, Angers and all over Europe and worldwide on www.euradio.fr.

On air, euradio broadcasts an information unlike any other radio: local and European, it creates a dialogue between news from our territories and news from our European neighbours. Our credo? To talk about what's happening in Europe today, and what will happen tomorrow, giving a platform to local initiatives here and elsewhere in the world.

The information is produced daily by a team of 5 to 7 interns and volunteers coming from all four corners of Europe surrounded by professionals in the field. We are currently looking for our next team!

Tasks of the intern

- To submit topics and produce content that are coherent with the local and European editorial line;
- To identify local and European source of information;
- To do literary researches;
- To summarize, prioritize and put in question the information on a topic;
- To interview local and European personalities;
- To write articles in French for the website;
- To participate in different translation works.

Required profile

- Student in either journalism, communication, European affairs or Political Science in higher education (with learning agreement for internship);
- Having a good general culture and very good culture of the European Union;
- Having a good level in French;
- Having good communication skills and enjoying working on a team;
- Having a good level in English.

Optional

- To already have a first professional experience in the radio industry;
